For an Assault Upon Two Ladies-A Man Beaten to Death-Other Crimes and Casualties.

CHICAGO, ILL. November 16 .- Asba J. Burrus, charged with assault with intent to kill, was arraigned for trial before Judge Collins this morning. The hearing was postponed until 2 o'clock this afternoon. On the evening of October 28, 1885, Mrs. Goode and Mies Walters, who were em-ployed in a commercial agency, hav-ing finished their day's work, were quitting the agency, at No. 146 Mon-roe street, and on their way homeward. As they stepped from the door, Burris, who had been waiting about, advanced and, producing a pistol, de-liberately fired at Mrs. Goode. So close was the range that her veil was close was the range that her veil was burnt and her face filled with powder. The shot took effect in her right ear and, passing entirely through her head, buried itself in the left facial bones near the surface. Mrs. Goods recled and pitched forward. As she fell Miss Walters, with a scream, seized her stricken companion's cloak. On the instant Rorms fixed again, the seized her stricken companion's cloak.
On the instant Burrus fired again, the bullet meant for Miss Walters striking her just in front of the right ear and ranging backward until lodged in the base of the brain. Without a word she dropped to the walk, falling half across the body of Mrs. Goode. This tragic scene, which consumed but a moment of time, happened when the street was filled with people and flooded with the light of a hundred gas and electric lights. Burus at once started at a run down Monroe street to Lassile, turn-ing then it to Madison and running eastward to Clark, where he was stopped by a policeman. A hundred shouting citizens had taken up the pursuit and Burrus was narrowly saved from lynching before the Harrison street patrol wagon arrived. The two ladies, thought to be mortally wounded, were carried into a neighboring drug store and later transferred to the county hospital. In the course of weeks, when their wounds had sufficiently improved, they were re-moved to the home of Miss Walters, at El Paso, Ill., where they have since remained until brought to Chicago a few days ago to appear at the trial. The difficulty between Burrus and the women began in St. Paul, where they were all three employed in the same office. Unpleasant relations, savored with scandalous misunderstandings, arose between the man on the one hand and the two ladies on the other, until the ladies were transferred, at their request, from St. Paul to this city. This was in the summer of city. This was in the scarcely passed 1885, and a month had scarcely passed and when Burrus came to Chicago and entered the local agency. Thus again thrown together the feud was re-

Farm buildings and fences are endangered. Kennedy was a bright and an aggressive young fellow, who was any ous for Congressional honors and in a fair way to receive them. He died while the campaign for the nomica-tion was in progress, and at a time when Mr. Randall and his friends were wearing pretty long faces. It had begun to look, indeed, as if the Democratic high priest of protection was to be untrocked. Young Kennedy's death, however, changed the whole aspect of things. His followers scattered, and could not be rallied under say other standard, and Mr. Ran-dall made his way without further difficulty. Still, the situation is not altogether an assuring one for him for the future. His following is largely made up of those to whom he has thrown individual favors. He works almost exclusively on those seifish lines. The one advantage to him is that he can count upon his men in campaign times, whereas many of those Democrats in the district who oppose him take no organized or active part in the primaries. His condition at home, therefore, is purely that of a ward boss, who rules by a system of bullying and rewards, and not, as in some quarkers supposed, that of a great leader whom even his opponents cordially admire and bow down before. Those Republicans who wote for him do so simply because they can rely upon him to vote to sustain protection as implicitly as same thing. FEDERAL AID FOR SCHOOLS

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE AP-POINTED

By the National Teachers' Association at Topeka and the Institute of Instruction.

Boston, Mars., November 16.—The meeting of the Committee on Federal Aid to the Common schools, appointed in July last by the National Teachers' Association and the American Institute of Instruction at Bar Harbor, which has been in session for the past week, adjourned today to meet in Washing on at the Convention of State School Superintendents in February. School Superinterdents in February. The gentlemen composing the committee are the Rev. A. E. Newship, editor of the New England Journal of Education, of Boston; the Hon. Wm. Preston Johnson, President of Tulane University of New Orleans; the Hon. E. C. Corrigan, of the Massachusetts State Board of Education; the Hon. M. A. Dreher, President of Rosnoke College, of Virginia, and Superintendent Dut-ton, of the New Haven public schools. The committee discussed the Senate bill for Federal aid to the common schools, and voted a report favor-ing i's principle, but no action was taken as to the especial features of the bill. In accordance with the resolution of the conventions at Topeka and Bar Harbor, the committees were so enlarged as to give each State and Territory local representation in the convention at Washington. The fol-lowing school officials were selected on School Committees in the repre-sentation of S ates, and as members of the Federal Aid Convention: Ail State and Territorial Squerintendents of Public Instruction, Superintendents of Schools in the South of cities and towns of 10,000 or more inhabitant, all School Superintendents of cities of 50,000 or more inhabitants, the presidents of the National Teachers' Association and the American Institute of Instruction, the general agents of the Peabody and State School Funds, Mrs. Mary H. Hunt, superintendent of the educational department of the Women's National Christian Temperance Union; the Hon. Hugh Thompson, of South Carolina; Mayor P. Courtenay, of Charleston, the Rev. A. D. Sr. Louis, Mo., November 16.— There are in bt. Louis at this time a au ober of Mexicans who have been obliged to leave their native country on account of the failure or discovery of revolutionary echemes with which they have been connected, and in Chicago a larger number of them are waiting for the time when a change of administration will enable them to re turn in safety to their homes. A most interesting subject of conversation among all of these Mexicus has been the report of the assas nation at Zacatecas, Mexico, of Gen. Garcia Cadena. G n. Cadena was the candidate against Gen. Porficio Disz, for the Presidency of the Mexican Repub-lic in 1883, and has always been regarded by Disk as an enemy and a dangerous man. The report of his death was confirmed yesterday, and it was stated in a private letter that Gen. Cadena had been killed by political enemies who had reason to fear his influence and his ambition. The exiled Mexicans here believe that the death of this leader removes the most formidable opponent to the bill now pending in the Mexican Congress, which grants President Diax an extension for two years of his term of office.
